

Wac Arts College – First Alternative Provision Free School (APFS) to Offer a Creative Curriculum in Country!

Wac Arts College provides alternative education for 14-19 year olds through a creative arts and media curriculum. The school consolidates over thirty years' experience of using arts and media education to turn disengaged young peoples' lives around. Wac Arts College opened its doors last week on September 3, 2014, marking 100 percent attendance on its first day. The team is extremely excited to work with its first group of young people.

Wac Arts College has received press attention from The Independent, the Guardian, Camden New Journal, and Ham & High. The College's Principal, James Fornara, says, "The number one priority for what we are trying to do is making learning fun". Wac Arts College will also be working with Albion Computing providing iPads to all of their students so that they can access the College's revolutionary creative arts & media curriculum!

About Wac Arts College:

Wac Arts College is the first and only Alternative Provision Free School (APFS) offering a creative curriculum for young people aged 14 to 19 in the country. The College also brings new life to core subjects such as maths and English by embedding them within the performing arts and media curriculum. The idea is to re-engage and inspire, and the timetable is built around the students and their individual needs. For further details on Wac Arts College, visit www.WacArtsCollege.co.uk or reach us at 020 7692 5860, email Info@WacArtsCollege.co.uk.

About James Fornara

James is the Principal of Wac Arts College. He trained as a drama teacher at the Welsh College of Music and Drama, and holds 15 years of extensive teaching experience in a wide variety of schools. His previous role was Head teacher for the Pupil Parent Partnership Community School, an alternative education provider based in west London that provides specialist education and therapeutic support services to marginalised and socially excluded learners.

About Wac Arts

Wac Arts is a dynamic, multi-functional charity (reg: charity no. 267043) that works in fresh and imaginative ways to support young people and help them discover their talents and fulfil their potential. It provides a range of entry level and professional training in the arts for young people aged 5-25. The programmes offer fun and engaging artistic activities to support young people develop a life-long interest in the arts. Visit www.wacarts.co.uk for further information on programmes offered by Wac Arts.

For further information please feel free to contact either myself or the Senior Administrator of Wac Arts College, Cordelia Longworth on 020 7692 5860.